should I just speak English?

Being bilingual does not define a persons intentions. Language is a part of a persons culture and no matter the country, no one should be judged and told they do not belong.

ON A PERSONAL NOTE

Social media has shown me other peoples experiences with being discriminated against the language they would speak. There is no harm being done to someone if a person is speaking to a family member. I believe that speaking multiple languages makes a person unique and is a way to embrace their cultures.
